Price and Quantity

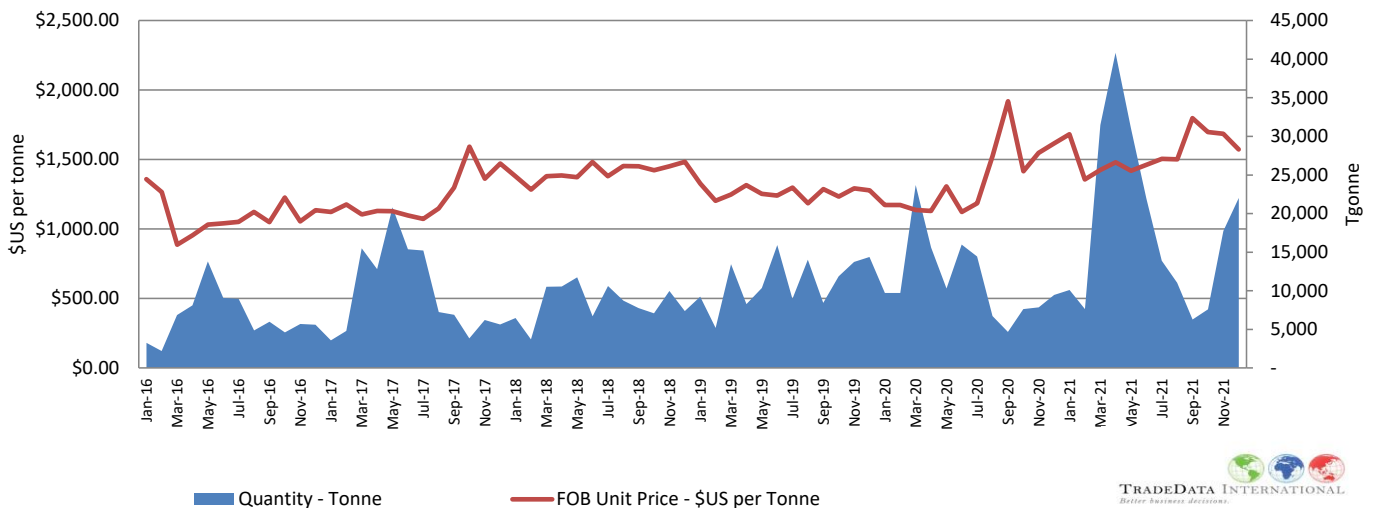

The next chart shows monthly movement in exports volumes - the blue shaded area of the chart - and in average prices on an FOB basis. Export volumes display a seasonal pattern and also a very strong surge in the second quarter of 2021. Peak export volumes are in the middle of each year. Average export prices were generally higher in 2018 and declined in 2019. Prices increased again the second half of 2020, fell in early 2021 and then recovered. The surge in exports in the first half of 2021 was associated with lower prices and saw strong increases in exports to Malaysia, the USA, Taiwan, Turkey, and a range of other countries.

CHINA Exports of Polypropylene; in primary forms

The excel file enables the user to select a destination country and then redraw this Price&Quantity chart to only include exports to the selected country. The chart below lists Price and Quantity where exports only to Viet Nam are selected. Like total exports, exports to Viet Nam have increased strongly in 2016 and 2017 in a seasonal pattern. Since 2018, export volumes to Vietnam have continued to increase but without the pronounced seasonal pattern and were very strong in the second quarter and in the final months of 2021.
