

SAMPLE FILE - China Imports of Fresh Grapes

The purpose of this paper is to show what sort of typical analytical tables and charts are available in a standard TradeData Excel file for any product imported into China. The product chosen was Fresh Grapes. Similar information is available for any product. The information is supplied in Excel file format and the file is designed to enable efficient analysis of the underlying statistics. At the end of this paper there are list two typical import transactions to demonstrate the underlying import information that is available in TradeData’s standard Excel file.

Table – Top Ten Origin Countries

The following table comes directly out of our standard excel file and shows – monthly –the top ten supply countries in terms of volumes as well as average prices by country. This table provides a convenient summary of month to month movements in imports. TradeData will normally supply the current year and five years of back data in its data files. However, if more data is required, in most cases, we can supply at no extra charge.

Price and Quantity

The next chart shows monthly movement in imports volumes - the blue shaded area of the chart - and in average prices on a CIF basis. These prices include transport and insurance costs to transport them to China. Import volumes are highly seasonal with the peak season in the second quarter of each year. The low season is in the third quarter. Import volumes have been increasing steadily until 2021 when they declined. Average prices are also seasonal being lower during the peak season and higher at other times. Peak season average prices have been steady around $US 2,500 a tonne landed in China.

The excel file enables the user to select a supply country and then redraw this Price&Quantity chart to only include imports from the selected country. The chart below lists Price and Quantity where imports only from the USA are selected. Import volumes are highly seasonal and have declined substantially over the last three years. Average prices do not display a seasonal pattern and are generally higher in recent times on low volumes.

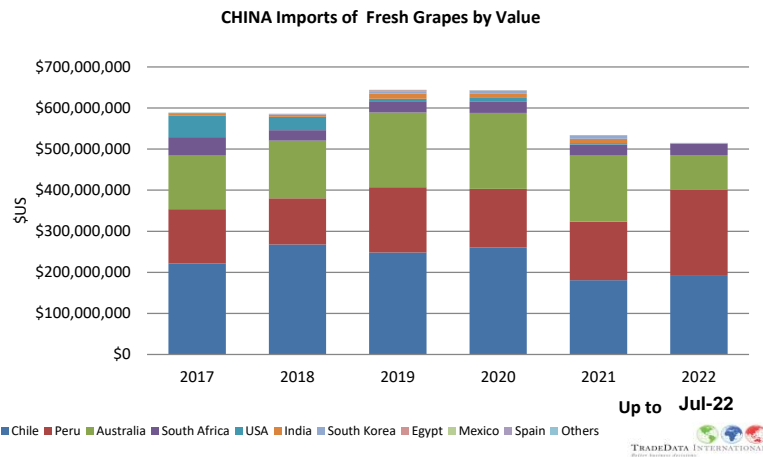

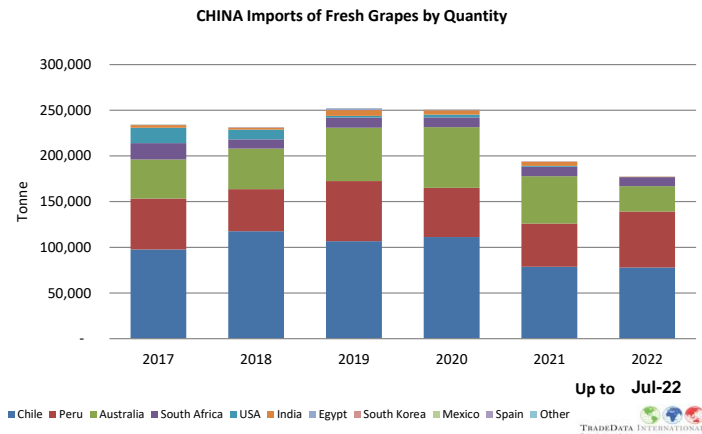

Average Prices - Top Six Supply Countries over Time

Major Supply Countries

The following two charts list annually the top ten supply countries to China both in volume and value terms. These charts draw the major supply countries market shares over time. Imports from Chile, Peru and Australia dominate. Imports from the US have declined.

Market Segments

The following chart lists a Price Histogram by Country. This shows that up to July in 2022 the volumes imported at different price points and which major supply country supplied at these price points. The Excel file enables the user to select different years and to the chart will redraw itself accordingly. Imports from Chile and Peru arrive at prices around $US 3,500 per tonne and from Australia and Peru at higher prices around $US 4,500 per tonne.
