Price and Quantity

The next chart shows monthly movement in export volumes - the blue shaded area of the chart - and average prices. The red line shows average prices without Transport and Insurance Costs (FOB values). The chart shows exports to be highly seasonal with peak sales near the end/start of each year. There are lower export volumes through the middle of the year. Average prices rose strongly from early 2019 where they were $NZ 3,000 a tonne to near $NZ 5,000 early in 2020, before declining again mid-2020. Prices have risen again in 2021 and in 2022 to around $NZ 7,000 before declining in recent months.

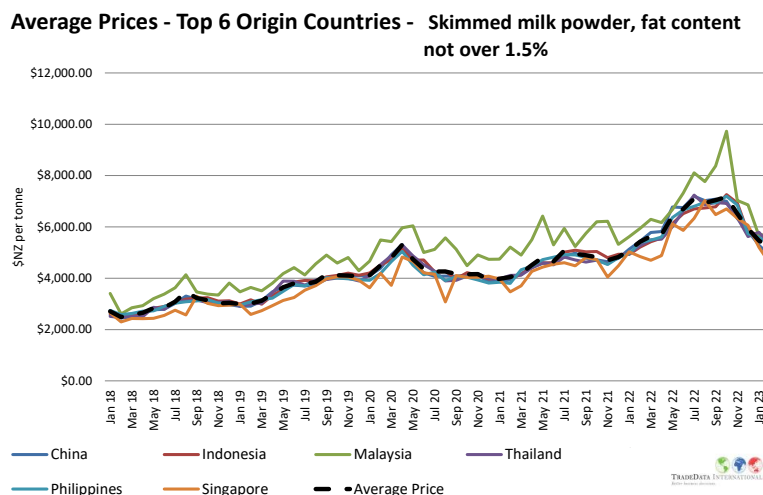

The excel file enables the user to select a destination and then redraws this Price & Quantity chart only including exports to the selected country. The chart below lists Price and Quantity where export only to China is selected. This shows a more pronounced seasonal pattern and also show export volumes and prices to China increasing in recent years. Average prices in 2022 are around $NZ 7,000 per tonne before declining in recent months.

Average Prices – Top Six Destination Countries

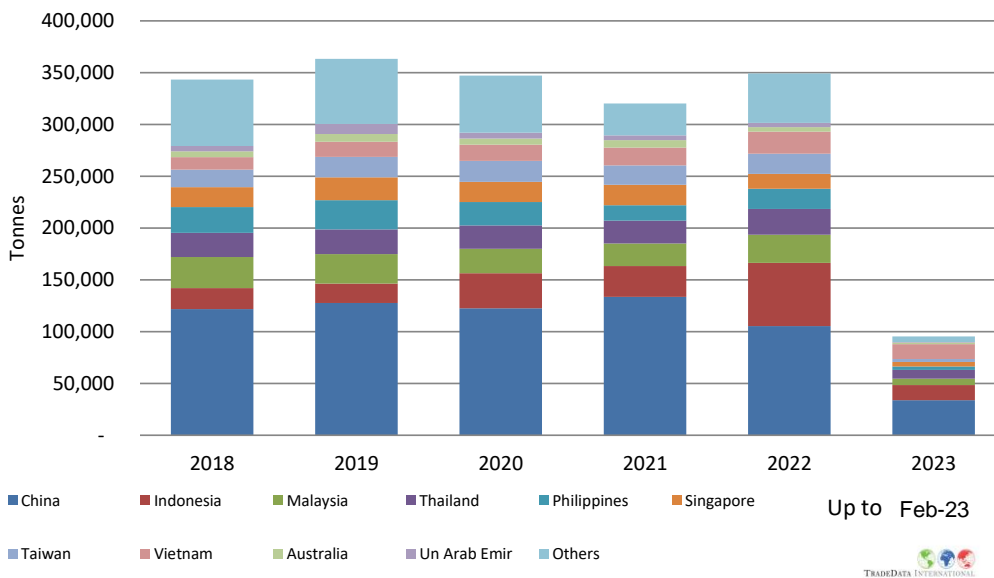

The following chart list average prices over time for the Top 6 destination countries. In the last couple of years, the price of exports to Malaysia have been above average and to Singapore below average.

Major Destination Countries

The following two charts list annually the top ten export destination countries both in volume and value terms. These charts draw the major destination countries market shares over time export volumes declined slowly between 2019 and 2021 before increasing in 2022. The increase in 2022 volumes was accompanied by sharply higher prices leading to a large increase in export values in that year.

Exports Volumes by Ports of Loading and Discharge

The following two charts list the Port of Loading (in New Zealand) where exports are loaded and the Ports of Discharge overseas. Most exports are loaded in Tauranga, Dunedin and Christchurch and are sea freighted. There has been a changing mix of major overseas ports of discharge. In recent years Tanjung Pelepas, Singapore and Hong Kong have been the major discharge ports.

Market Segments

The following chart lists a Price Histogram by Country. This shows in 2022, the volumes exported at different price points and the major destination markets supplied at these price points. The Excel file enables the user to select different years and to the chart will redraw itself accordingly. The chart shows the major export markets in 2022 mostly purchase at prices between NZD 5,000 and NZD 7,000 per tonne. Most countries import at prices between $NZ 5,500 and $NZ 6,500. China is the largest importer, and they often import at higher prices up to $NZ 7,000 per tonne.
